Group Grading

Allowed to roll over stories to a different sprint as long as you keep proper procedure.

Document Scrums as demonstrated

Document attendance to sprint review

Backlog refinement, add new stories based on what was done

descriptions and acceptance criteria (Done)

Everone needs to have 4 hours logged.

Every Story Should have an artifact in the githube repo showing it was completed.

Close within 36 hours of the deadline (Tuesday)

Stories must go from To do -> Inprogress -> Done

Close all subtasks before you close the parent

Individual Grading

Individuial grading seems to mostly consist on how many of your stories are marked done with evidence by the end of the sprint.

We didn't use story points this sprint, but in the future this might be a good way to track completed work.

Stories must follow proper workflow as discussed above.

Have a commit to github accompany your completed stories.

Github user names must be mapped to real names(pretty sure we're all good on this but should check).

Be present in scrum meetings and record your name and comments for the bulk of participation points

Names are checked automatically, so make sure they are spelled correctly.

You need to log time on 2 stories you don't own in order to get full collaboration points.

25% of the grade is for following the agile process, which basically consists of makeing sure to leave your stories in progress for a good amount of time.

Log time on all of your stoires, include good descriptions of work done.

Small percentag eof grade or identifying roadblocks and taking steps to solve them.

Use quality descriptions in the worklog, as well as in SCRUM meeting tables.

If your a scrum master, own the sprint report story.
